The rain and snow storms, which began on the latter of the week and last till writing, still causing down, has done and will do good to all our crops. The young trees of our orchards have been buried under snowdrifts and dead.

The Poor, South Branch Canal & Irrigation Company has secured an assessment of $100,000 on each share of piping stock for the purpose of cleaning and repairing the canal. Work will begin on Monday evening, at 8 o'clock sharp, May 1st. The place of meeting to commence work will be the water gate of next week.

Business is somewhat brighter than what it has been in the past, and our business men are looking forward to an increase in sales and profits. But with the low price of fuel products the former will be left that "feared feeling" of hard times, although the prospects are now looking towards better prices for his products.

For what is not another day by young Indians. Few is he and sometimes above any other place in the country. No one having objections to the same believe having a good time, but they do protest against the destruction and unnecessary expense that they are forced to meet by the depredations of these young fellows, who roam the streets straight only to see what and what they can to annoy their neighbors. It is not part of their native customs to hunt or get hurt.

Duncan W. Macmillan went to Salt Lake this week. G. B. H. Vire.
